Catholic Q&A

In your last column, you said that Catholics should not donate to the Susan G. Komen Foundation. Who should we donate to then if we want to support breast cancer research?

One organization I would recommend is The Polycarp Research Institute (TPRI). According to their website, "The Polycarp Research Institute is a non-profit organization (501 C3) dedicated to the promotion and dissemination of high-quality research designed to enhance the physical, psychological and spiritual condition of mankind." It is one of the few scientific research organizations that has acknowledged the link between abortion and breast cancer (the "ABC link"). Also, TPRI will not promote methods or intentions that are inconsistent with the ethical and moral guidelines of the Catholic Church.

Another worthwhile organization is the Breast Cancer Prevention Institute. According to their website, "The Breast Cancer Prevention Institute is a non-profit, 501(c)(3) corporation, which educates healthcare professionals and the general public through research publications, lectures, and the internet, on ways to reduce breast cancer incidence." It's founder, Dr. Joel Brind, is the leading expert on the ABC link.

Finally, the National Breast Cancer Foundation is an option. According to their website, "The National Breast Cancer Foundation mission is to save lives through early detection and to provide mammograms for those in need. Our mission includes increasing awareness through education, providing diagnostic breast care services for those in need, and providing nurturing support services." They are listed by the Bioethics Defense Fund as an alternative to the Susan G. Komen Foundation.

Before you donate to any breast cancer research organization, ask them:

- Do you acknowledge the ABC link?
- Do you donate to Planned Parenthood, or to any other organizations that perform or refer women for abortions?
- Do you promote embryonic stem cell research?

I know this might seem tedious, but we have to make sure that we are donating our hard-earned money to organizations that have objectives that are consistent with what we believe as Catholics. Furthermore, any organization devoted to finding a cure for breast cancer that denies the negative effects of abortion is doing a disservice to women. The evidence is clear: 27 of the 33 studies on the ABC link showed definite increased risk. Women who had at least one abortion were on average, 50% more likely to develop breast cancer. One can't help but wonder if the wholesale denial of this evidence is ideologically driven. Let's have our money fuel the pursuit of truth. Only then will a cure be found.

Peace of Christ to you,

Laugh for the Week

“FIRST TIME IN CHURCH”

A young cowboy was explaining to the boys back at the ranch about his first visit to church.

“When I got there, they had me park my truck in the corral,” he began. “You mean the parking lot, a more worldly wise cowboy said”

“The sidewalk”, the second said. “Inside the door I was met by a dude,” The first went on to say. “Probably an user, the second explained.”

“Well , the user led me down the chute,” “You mean aisle” the second corrected again. “Then he had me sit in a stall,” the first continued. “PEW” the second said. “Yeah, recalled the first, “that’s what the lady sitting next to me said.”

Forming Good Stewards

Thirty-First Sunday in Ordinary Time

“Behold, half of my possessions, Lord, I shall give to the poor, and if I have extorted anything from anyone I shall repay it four times.”

Luke, 19:1-10

Everyone willing to join with Zacchaeus, raise your hand. Only a man who is aware that everything we have comes from God and that God wants us to use it for ourselves and for others, and who has been a good steward would give half of his possessions to the poor. Only a man who has lived honorably in the sight of God can declare that he will return four times over whatever he had unjustly taken from another. Jesus was willing to enter the house of Zacchaeus over the objection of his friends and other because He had entered the heart of Zacchaeus and was able to declare, “Today salvation has come to this house because this man, too, is a descendant of Abraham.” Are we ready for Jesus to stay at our home and enter into our heart? Have we been a good steward of all God has given to us? Have we lived honorably in God's sight? When Jesus is in our home will he say “Salvation has come to this house”?

The Social Justice Committee has a question for you to ponder during the month of November. What is the Spiritual Ecumenism? Spiritual ecumenism is the heart and soul of the whole ecumenical movement. Prayer must be first and foremost. Just as Jesus prayed for us to be one so we must pray for one another and for the conversion of our hearts. The Social Justice Committee meets every third Tuesday of each month. We would like new members.

I hope you had a good week. Today is the 31st Sunday in Ordinary Time. There are only 34 Sundays in all the last one being the Feast of Christ the King. So we are almost at the end of a church year. A familiar story in the Gospel today. Zacchaeus climbs a tree to see the Lord. I wonder what lengths I would go to meet Him? What sacrifices would I make to follow Him? Zacchaeus gives us a good example.

Youth group does not meet tonight. Religious Ed does meet this morning.

RCIA has already begun. There is still time to join. So if you know anyone who might be interested have them call the office.

What a great welcoming brunch we had. Thanks to Phyllis Bastin and the Welcoming Committee for the great work in welcoming our new members. There was a lot of people there and a lot of food. Thanks to all those who had a part in the great celebration.

This Sunday is Priesthood Sunday. We thank God for the gift of priesthood in our Church. Come join me for a brunch after the 10am Mass today. And thank you for appreciating me.

Monday, All Saints Day Mass is at the regular time of 6:30 am since it is not a day of obligation.

Liturgy committee meets this Wednesday at 6:30pm in parish library.

November is the month of All Souls. We pray for the departed loved ones this month. Please note the board in the back of church and the Book of Life. Feel free to add names to the book for prayer.

Coming up in November, Bethlehem Christian Families will be here the second weekend set up in the lobby of the parish hall. They are the ones with olive wood carvings from the Holy Land for sale. These items make great Christmas gifts.

From Death to New Life

Our prayers and Sympathy are extended to the family of Jack Wilson. May he share in the Resurrection of the Lord!
