Bedtime Bags

Bedtime Bags is an outreach of comfort bags for traumatized children. These children are given a bag with a blanket, a stuffed animal-new or used, a coloring book and crayons. They are appropriate for children about seven years old and younger. The bags are distributed to 12 agencies who use discretion as to how they are distributed to the children. Each agency receives 5 bags per month and about 1500 of them have been distributed since 2009.

Please consider donating new or used stuffed animals and money for the coloring books and crayons to Shirley Wahl, 2311 Citation Ave. Owensboro, Ky 42301, or call her at 270/684-8918 for an explanation of the program. This program has recently received an award of recognition from the Owensboro Public Schools

Laugh for the Week

“Smartest Man”

A doctor, a professor, a preacher, and a young boy were taking a ride in a small private plane. Suddenly the engine began to sputter. In spite of the pilot’s best efforts, the plane started to go down. In terror, the pilot grabbed a parachute and bailed out. Unfortunately there were only three chutes remaining.

The doctor said, “I’m a physician— I save lives, so I must save myself.” He grabbed a parachute and jumped. The professor then said, “I’m one of the most intelligent people in our whole country. I have to teach the next generation, so I’m taking a parachute.” He grabbed a pack and jumped, too.

The preacher embraced the little boy and said, “Son, I’ve enjoyed a long and full life. Your young and have yur whole life ahead of you. Take the last parachute and go!”

The boy handed the parachute back to the preacher and said. “Not to worry, Reverend. The smartest man in the world just jumped out of the plane with my backpack!!”

New Roman Missal

On Sunday, November 27 of this year, Catholics in the United States will begin worshiping with the newly-translated texts of the third edition of the Roman Missal.

The Concluding Rite of the Mass begins after the Prayer after Communion. After some brief parish announcements, we are blessed for our journey. Sometimes this is done simply. On some special occasions, it is done more solemnly. In those times, we bow our head and pause in silence to ask for God’s blessing. We then conclude as we began, signing ourselves with the sign of Christ’s cross. We are dismissed – missioned, that is, by the deacon or presider. What we have done at this liturgy, we must now do in the world. The late Cardinal Bernardin puts it well, “The dismissal of the assembly is like the breaking of the bread. We have become ‘the bread of life’ and ‘the cup of blessing’ for the world. Now we are scattered, broken, poured out to be life for the world. What happens at home, at work, at meals? What do we make of our time, our words, our deeds, our resources of all kinds? This is what matters.”

Forming Good Stewards Sunday Collections

Eighteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time
Taking the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, he said the blessing, broke the loaves, and gave them to the disciples, who in turn gave them to the crowds. Matthew 14:13-21

St. Matthew provides sparse details about such an incredible miracle. Is it possible that hidden in the lack of details is evidence of an even greater miracle? Many people lead nomadic lives [Bedouins] and travel was so arduous, so the descendants of Noah’s son Shem [Semites - both Jews and Arabs] had a strong obligation to receive travelers and share their food and drink. Jesus was aware of this and he knew that some people who came to hear a him might brought food and drink hidden under their coats. Was Jesus aware that those who brought food and drink might keep it hidden to avoid sharing it with those who brought nothing? Probably! So Jesus blesses the loaves and fish and gives them to the crowd - a very generous act. Did the crowd see what Jesus did? Probably! Did they take out their food and drink and share it with others? Did they choose to act generously? In the context of free will, which is the greater miracle, multiplication of loaves and fish or multiplication of generous hearts? Which does Jesus expect of us?

I hope you had a good week. Today is the Eighteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time. We continue to hear from the Gospel of Matthew. We have been hearing about the kingdom of heaven in parables and now Jesus shows us a glimpse of that kingdom by working a miracle. He feed over 5,000 people with the miracle of the loaves and fishes. May Jesus feed us with His love this week in amazing ways. He is still concerned for our needs.

In just two weeks we have our annual picnic. Your raffle tickets are at the doors. Please consider selling some for the success of our picnic. We pray for great weather and even greater sense of church family as we work together in this special ministry. If you need a place to serve at the picnic call the office please.

I have a new emergency number at the rectory. 663-1398. I was using the Gideon Productions number but that was confusing to people so now I have a separate line.

Thanks for all the prayers while I was away. As always it is good to leave for awhile but even better returning home. I'm glad to be back and thank Father Phil for helping out.

I will be helping with a men's retreat at Gasper this week on Monday Tuesday and Wednesday. There will be Mass Monday morning, but not Tuesday or Wednesday. Pray for us on retreat.

In August we will pick new parish council members. A candidate has to be in good standing with the Church; if married, married in the Church if single, living the faithful Christian life. Please call the office if you would like to be considered or if you have a suggestion of someone to be considered.
